HIGHER EDUCATION RECOGNITIONS

United Kingdom

Institutions featured in this section are examples of universities and colleges which have recognised appropriate level(s) of the IVQs in International Tourism (4867) for admission to the relevant degree or degree-linked programmes, with the possibility of exemptions where applicable, as shown in each individual entry.

Levels shown indicate the levels accepted as minimum requirements.

Recognition and successful completion of the recognised level(s) do not guarantee admission and each application will be considered on an individual basis.

Applicants will need to meet all other academic and non-academic entry requirements, including the English language proficiency set by the recognising institution.

The University of Bolton

www.bolton.ac.uk

The University is willing to accept applicants holding the Advanced Diploma onto level 1 of the BSc (Hons) Tourism Management and BSc (Hons) International Tourism Management degree programmes.

The University of Bolton is a community of professionals committed to developing students for their professional lives, and has consistently won the highest ratings possible for its teaching quality from the Government's quality control agency.

With a student body of around 13,000, Bolton has a modern campus where students from 60 countries study within a challenging academic environment. The University's international presence is also developing, in 2008 it opened a new campus in the United Arab Emirates. Research and development, as well as business development activity, are both growth areas for Bolton.

Bournemouth University

www.bournemouth.ac.uk

Students holding an Advanced Diploma may be considered for a first year entry to a Bournemouth University Bachelors degree.

Each application will be judged on the merit of the student's full profile, including grades achieved during full schooling, English language capabilities, extra curricular activities and relevant employment experience.

The above IVQs will provide a suitable benchmark entry point, though successful completion will not assure that an offer is made to the candidate.

Bournemouth University is consistently ranked among the UK's top performing modern universities. The Guardian's University Guide has named the University number one new university and number one for studies in tourism for the last two years. The University has around 17,000 students, including over 1600 international students from 130 countries.
